For Immediate Release

Leaseurope releases its Ranking of European Leasing Companies – The Top100 Companies in 2005

BRUSSELS – 20 June 2006 - Leaseurope, the European Federation of Leasing Company Associations, is pleased to present its 2005 Ranking of the Top 100 European Leasing Companies. Although it is the fifth consecutive ranking prepared by Leaseurope, it is released for the third year in a row to the public at large in the aim of improving the visibility of leasing at European level, and more importantly in the aim of illustrating the positive role leasing plays in the economy as an accessible and favourable source of finance.

In the Leaseurope Ranking, European leasing companies are ranked once a year according to the total value of their new contracts. Figures shown in the attached tables represent the new production of parent and independent leasing companies on a consolidated basis for the top 100 companies in 2005.

This year, a record-breaking 272 organisations in total responded to the survey, out of which 209 are parent companies, located in 25 different countries (both EU and non-EU member states). The companies presented in the ranking are members of the 32 national leasing associations covered by Leaseurope, which in turn represent more than 1,200 European leasing companies. Grouped together within Leaseurope, these national associations represent more than 90% of the entire European leasing market in 2005.

The companies surveyed are quite representative of the leasing activities in Europe. With 141 billion € worth of new contracts, they represent approximately 54% of the total 2005 Leaseurope market. The top ten companies of the 2005 ranking account for roughly 50% of the value of new contracts included in the survey and for 27% of the total Leaseurope market.

The results of this ranking combined with the statistics published by Leaseurope for 2005 “once again demonstrate the continued success of leasing as a means of finance and its contribution to growth and job creation” according to Mr. J.-M. Mignerey, Chairman of Leaseurope. Indeed, in 2005 Leaseurope new leasing business amounted to 2.37% of GDP and the leasing penetration rate, measured as the amount of investment financed by leasing, during the year rose to 16%.

It is important to note that the ranking is based on data provided on a voluntary basis by the companies themselves and that the released figures cover European activities only.

Note to the editors:

Leaseurope, the European Federation of Leasing Company Associations, was founded in 1972. Since April 2006, Leaseurope, represents as an umbrella body both the leasing and rental industries in Europe, and is composed of 46 Member Associations in 32 countries. The countries represented are: Austria, Belgium, Bosnia-Herzegovina, Bulgaria, Czech Republic, Denmark, Estonia, Finland, France, Germany, Greece, Hungary, Ireland, Italy, Lithuania, Luxembourg, Malta, Morocco, the Netherlands, Norway, Poland, Portugal, Romania, Russia, Serbia & Montenegro, Slovakia, Slovenia, Spain, Sweden, Switzerland, Ukraine and the United Kingdom

Leaseurope's mission is to be a first class organisation representing the European leasing and rental industry, to the outside world, mainly the EU Institutions and other European or international organisations. Its objectives are to promote leasing as a key financial service; and to be a value-added organization as well as a primary source of information and an action platform on European leasing for its members and their members vis-à-vis policy and decision makers.

Leaseurope's 2005 Annual Statistics reveal that the new leasing business of its leasing Member Associations having taken part¹ in the annual statistical survey amounts to 263 billion euros. The Federation estimates that this represents around 97% of its market. The total Leaseurope market for 2005 is thus forecasted to be around 270 billion euros, making its market the largest leasing market in the world. The 1,200 or so leasing companies represented via Leaseurope's members account for 90% of all European leasing.

How can we be of further help? LEASEUROPE has experts in accounting, tax, legal and regulatory issues. It provides details on a wide variety of statistics, studies and analysis on current EU and international issues with an impact on leasing, such as Basel II, IAS, environmental liability, etc.
